Published Every Day by THE HERALD COMPANY

OFFICE THE HERALD block, corner Vest Temple and Pirat South streets, Salt Lake City. TERMS OF SUBSCRIPTION: DAILY, PER MONTH

Daily, six months
Daily, per year
Daily, per year
Daily, per year
155
Sunday, per year
2 05
Sunday, per year COMPLAINTS. Subscribers who fail to secute a single copy of THE HERALD should immeniately norify the publishers.
Readers who are unable to purchase
THE HERALD at any news stand or on any railroad train in Utah, Idaho, Neunable train of Colorado, will oblice Vade, Wyeming or Colorado, will oblice by reporting that fact.
WASHINGTON BUREAU.—West End
attornal Bank building, 165 G street, N.

NEW YORK OFFICE-E. Katz, 25-234 Address all remittances to HERALD

METEOROLOGICAL REPORT.

Yesterday's Record at the Local Office of the Weather Bureau.

Sait Lake City, Utah, April 8, 1829. Maximum temperature, 7e degrees; min Maximum temperature, 70 degrees, mini-num temperature, 28 degrees mean tem-perature, 34 degrees, which is 3 degrees above the normal; accumulated deficiency of temperature since first of the month, 5 degrees; accumulated excess of tem-perature since Jan. 1, 52 degrees; total pre-cipilation from 6 p. m. 16 p. m., 5 inch; accumulated deficiency of precipitation since first of the month, 11 lach; accumu-lated excess of precipitation since Jan. 1, 138 linches.

LOCAL FORECAST. The following is the local forecast of the cather for today: Fair and warmer.

I. H. MURDOCH.

Section Director, Weather Bureau.

SPRINGTIME.

moral obligation to take advantage stances and the poverty of his old age ercise they need because they are tired at the close of every day,

Is still bracing, while the sun Is and yet the breeze is crisp from the way. whanks among the mountains.

cise, but there are other ways to take ne's constitutional. The old-fushioned ractice of walking is one of the best enics to be found. Unfortunately, it fulling more and more into disuse, one men walk to their offices or stores and consider that they have humored their systems quite enough. But they hurry along, with their minds en ed in business affairs, still workand never thinking of recreation Walking should not be purely dental. An occasional after-dinner stroll is better than a drive, and wheeling, enthusiasts declare, is better than

There are so many interesting runs to be made, or walks to be taken, around Salt Lake City and in the vi cipity of every town and city in this ntain country, that they are actually tempting, when one pauses to think of them and the magnificent

People who wish to keep well brough the summer should take advantage of the warm sunshine and the Country folks do this as a i to themselves to spend at least an

OUR POLICY IN CHINA.

hand, It is important to consider the Bussian Since Finland is half Swedish rights and interests of the United and always has been, the Swedes offer up with all the struggling, and threat- situation is rapidly assuming a differening and sending of armies that has entiphase. Then the crown prince com-bsen resorted to, such a trade in China plicated matters still further by decidas our merchant shipowners founded ing to choose his representative from and our merchants have continued, not Sweden. This was one of the causes of without government sagetion or sup- the crown in Christiana. port. They never will be able to do so, because, while we have outstripped general to establish a semblance of uni-them in dealing from the Atlantic versal peace on the basis of mutual uncoast, and, of late years, the unde-veloped Pacific slope, we shall more for there are others than the czar work than ever be able to hold our own un- ing to this end, and it is an ideal state der the stimulus of cheaper transportation which the isthmian canal will Insure, and with the assistance of a string of naval stations clear across the Pacific which we will have, no matter what may ultimately be done with the Phillippines. It is with nations such as Germany, Russia and France, lacking either the tension of public feeling for an inmercial genius or the surplus prod- stan accompanied by promises of equality in trade privinges, and write these promises have been faithfully kept so far, there is nothing to prevent a prefer for an uprising under other change in their attitude whenever their tradesmen cry out against American of street and cafe conversation.

mill come the closed door, and hence dation. This is all the friends of the evidence, notwithstanding the emphatic and incidence of our foreign market; and rejeance ask, but that they have some assertions of Mr. Stoutt and the mani-

It is a grave problem and may require heroic action in its solution. One-fourth of the human family is involved. If the integrity of the empire is secured, and our present rights maintained, American exporters will have there is a trial, not only this testimony, their share in this great trade, and a but other facts of the most damaging constantly increasing one it is sure to character, will come to light.

If we succeed in protecting our commercial interests there without becom-ing entangled in another European im-broglio, it must be by some means not now known. True, we might depend upon the generosity of Russia. But how long could we count upon it? Once upon a time the United States But Comple Court building.

HICAGO OFFICE-ST Washington St.

HICAGO OFFICE-ST Washington St.

We relied upon the historical friendship between this country and France scribers removing from one place to or, and destring papers changed, il always give former as well as at address. trade was sacrificed. And so will it be in China unless the United States omes aggressive or secures the cooperation of Great Britain in making a final effort to reform and preserve the Chinese empire.

EXAMPLE TO PENSIONERS.

It is officially stated that the reduction of the pension of General John M. Paimer of Hilhois from 1909 per month to 550 per month was made at his own request, he having informed the authorities that the amalier sum would supply his needs, and that he would not accept jany more. The old general is as severely modest in peace as he was brave in war-and what at example he sets for other pensioners.—Mail and Express.

When a congress engaged in distributing $145,000,000 a year in pensions among a million of pensioners, many of or its own self-respect, if it punished whom are less deserving than this griz-zied old warrior, received this unusual request, it must have been a surprise And it must have been with reluctance the request was complied with, for and the mild days are here, it becomes | many of the members knew his circum of the air and sunshine. Those whose Three years ago General Palmer was occupations take them out-of-doors a candidate for the presidency, backed are sure to welcome this weather, and by bankers and millionaires, many of those who are housed up most of the whom could and would have taken care year need the exercise and the exhil-aration it affords them.

While it is said that half the world is awheel, it is by no means superfluous to speak of the duty of taking exercise. since the other half is apt to go to the other extreme and take little or none days. But he would not lend his enact all. There are business men and conragement to speculation or accept omen, housewives, professional peo-de, students and others who work in-loors and imagine they get all the ex-wrung from the masses.

reise they need because they are tired at the close of every day.

But they need to walk and ride and proffer of such aid. But such forms of drive and get out and away from their assistance are common among stock endless cures once in awhile. It is manipulators, and regarded by men of good to breathe the spring air while the class endorsing his candidacy for the presidency as perfectly legitimate arm enough to make a walk cheerful General Palmer could not see it that > nearly blind and almost destitute, after many years of public service on the of age, but unwilling to accept more from his country than the barest necessities of life require.

>
> The only wonder is how such a man > so near to the masses, so indifferent to the blandishments of wealth, could the blandishments of wealth, could have permitted his name to be used on the ticket of the goldbug faction of the

ANOTHER CIRCUMSTANCE.

What if the czar's peace proposal were nothing less than an altempt to secure a military advantage while entertaining other powers with sermons European disarmament!

His gradual encroachment upon China, the tightening of his grasp upon Finland, the enlargement of the navy and the extraordinary activity of the While Finland has been nominally a free country, the same tactics are being followed that a half century ago were employed to subjugate Poland. And the Finns may only see if they care or

The caar makes this buffer land between Sweden and Russia nothing more clations, such as we hear of throughthan a prevince. The old constitution is the eastern press, constitute another. With the end of China apparently at cast aside and everything begins to be States in connection with this mooted sympathy; they are not powerful division of the empire.

enough to do more, and may not parsishafts of malice and calumny may owing to the desire of this governities in the peace conference with make dents, but they cannot pierce it. ment to keep out of Asiatic broils and the same enthusiasm that was ex-civilization of China. Russian aggressover the proceedings, for in no country upon him as a transgressor or a crimsion to forcing the issue, and it is lis-ble to involve this government, wheth-er it relishes participation or not. For than in the kingdom of Sweden and just ended in this city. An individual American trade in China and Invest- Norway. Great preparations had been ments in the valley of the Yangtze are made, and the brightest lights in the too considerable to be surrendered two nations were to be sent as repre-without at least a vigorous protest.

None of these other powers has built regard to Finland, it appears that the without government aid, but recent hostile demonstrations against

It would be a sad blow to efforts in for which mankind should work.

FRANCE AND DREYFUS.

Not much is heard of the Dreyfus case just now. But the French people have by no means forgotten it. Nothing has taken their minds from it or relieved

The death of Faure and the selection tions with the Orient, and consequently of Loubet as his successor only attractcompelled to impose their goods by ed the rabble by the hearing it had on force upon reluctant customers, that the great case, and their discussion of ercial interests conflict. And, the change in the government was conwhile every absorption of Chinese ter- fined to speculation as to the new pres-European powers has been ident's position in relation to Drayfus, led by promises of equality. Nor did the recent treaty with Eng-en; and while these land, which might have aroused the in-

The court of cassation has tried to estion may, therefore, hush up the affair, not from motives of within the year be the largest one hostility to Dreyfus, but through fears cation given him by a jury of his peers upon our national calendar. There is for the welfare of the state if the truth last evening. It required but a few no longer any use of denying that the comes out. The court has certainly minutes for the jury to prepare its intentions of Russia are serious; that shown a disposition to be fair, and it verdict of acquittal, which has been a her advance upon China is steady and professes the courage of its convictions foregone conclusion from the first. No irresistible; that with Russian control and denies all fear of military intimi-

The recent publication of this testimony in the Figure puts an end to con calment, and there is more behind. The Dreyfusites have in their possesby Esterhany, threatening the president case as was desired by the army, a the army to fight for their country. foreign sovereign would be asked to in forvene. These menacing letters were lictated by the general staff, and help to explain the curious and at times wab bling course of the late president. They leave no doubt in the minds of disin-terested people but Dreyfus is the vic-tim of an official conspiracy, and that the military authorities of France are absence especially interested in preventing fair and thorough investigation. The long matters of suspicio strengthened by every development, every newly discovered circumstance, until they amount to a conviction in the ninds of the masses now.

The tables are turned. Public opin ion has changed. The Dreyfusites are the aggressors now. Their adversaries ism, and whining pleas for the safety

But no government can thrive upor the persecution of the citizen. No army can maintain the respect of the people an innocent man to screen the guilty, There can be no greater fallacy the imagine that the state can be benefited by injustice and persecution.

SELKING FOREIGN TRADE.

Reaching out for the trade of all the world. This is what the United States doing. Looking for markets every-here. Bearding the lion in his den Meeting the foreign manufacturer at his own shop door. Competing with the cheapest labor of Europe. Proving that the best, most skillful labor is, after all, the cheapest. Tearing down our Chinese walls of trade restriction. Admitting that we are selling goods abroad at a profit for less than we get for them at home. Confessing that tariff protection is a trust-creator, and that the manufacturers don't need it. That is what the American people are doing. It is why they prosper in spite of the power of trusts and the influence of capital and adverse financial tegislation. It is what the Democratic party taught years before their publican brothers admitted its thuth it is what Republicans confess now that the truth can no longer be con

There is a clamor, a struggle, a fight for foreign markets. And clubs, Re-publican clubs, are being oragnized to work for these. This departure cannot but discredit the theory upon which the "home market" clubs rest. Eithe we are in a position to meet general foreign competition, or we are not, if we are, we need foreign market clubs we are not, we have reason to dread oreign production, and should look out for our own home markets.

At the time the last tariff bill was up for discussion a prominent New England Republican declared that he did not want to hear anything about our export trade in shoe and goods; he hoped the time would never come when New England shoe-workers would be reduced to that condition when they would be able to manufac-ture goods for the open markets of the world in competition with the pauper-paid labor of Europe. No man can hold this view and he enthusiastic for an Asiatic market, either in China or the Philippines, and so the demand of leading American protectionists for the open door in the Philippines is a most significant sign of the times. The forantion of American manufacturers into foreign market clubs, and Asiatic merce clubs, and Egyptian trade asso

VALUE OF A GOOD NAME.

Character is a shield upon which the When a man has lived an upright life European politics, our historic national policy has been the preservation and This will doubtless cast a damper to admit it, the world is loth to look > was charged with attempted murder The case was aggressively prosecuted There were strong declarations agains him made on the witness stand.

The victim of the alleged assaul swore positively that the accused had committed it; and, while there were name incongruitles in his testimony, the prosecuting witness never wavered in his story, but repeatedly and emphat junly declared that he had recognized the prisoner at the time of the shooting as the man who tried to take his

The prisoner proved an alibi and many circumstances were in his favor. But the strongest point in his defense was the fact that he had led an honorable life, and that he was always considered trustworthy, tributes which his accuser even did not hesitate to pay

Men who have the character upon which to build such reputations are bound to have standing with an intelligent jury, and they are entitled to it

There is a leason in this for young nen and women. Many of them are too hasty or inconsiderate to recognize the importance of character in every relation of life. Nothing should be guarded with more care or watched ith greater vigilance

Let men or women begin the journey of life, under whatever cloud, whether of poverty or family obscurity, if they pursue an upright, honorable course they will live to see their traducers un-done, the gossipers shamed, the slan-

The Herald congratulates Mr. A. B lones and his family upon the windi-

that this movement upon China, like a grounds for thinking the contrary is fest hostility of a prominent city of glacier in its slow but steady progress, evident from the publication of the testing ficial. The case was aggressively prosestument to the checked. Or the American market will be lost. Since these matters have been made partial and satisfactory, and the find-public, in defiance of the government, it lugs of the jury in perfect accord with is apparent that Dreyfusites do not fear the facts and circumstances. It is a the result. In fact, they are courting complete exoneration of Mr. Jones, and prosecution, because they know that if he deserves it.

Now let the rest of the complaints of soldiers be investigated. Neglect of the wounded, the use of pest ships for troop transportation, garbage carts for hauling meat, camps in unhealthy lo-calities, poisonous water, scanty and sion letters written to President Faure bad food, exposure to the elements for that if he did not so order the Dreyfus killed hundreds of men who entered

> "We are satisfied that a two weeks absence in Emporia would improve the morals of our contemporary's stuff ex-ceedingly," says our peevish morning contemporary. But its own merals are too far gone for anything to help. They are out of sight-conspicuous by their Probably that Kansas editor who wa caned the other day had been in the habit of calling his neighbors and slaves," and had worn out public patience by denouncing the community which he lived as a nest of pledge breakers and lawbreakers.

Ambassador White has been telling are dodging, whining and fleeing to that last refuge of scoundrels-patriottions," meaning Germany, Great Brit ain and the United States. He must have meant three achin' nations-ach-

Our morning contemporary now finds fault with "sermons as they are preached" in the tabernacle. It still holds the western championship for high kicking.

If Alger has had enough Miles ought to let him up and then McKinley should follow suit and let him out. Al-Carlists are threatening the royal family of Spain again. Alphonso should give them foreign appointments.

And shadow-shapes that stride across the sand.

The gray beach widens. Fout by foot ap-

Recession of the chb along the shore.
The fickle tide that bore them bravely

Betrays their shame and nukedness be witness to the littleness of men he battle with the sovereignty of

A Bond Is a Bond.

(Chicago Tribune.)
I was lunching with Sarah Bernhardt during the fetes celebrated for the czar. She had played before his imperial ma-jesty the night before at Versuilles. The jesty the night before at Versailles. The elephone rang and after some parley madame's private secretary came into the dining room and asked the "divine Sarah" to come to the telephone in answer to a call from the Elysco. She excused herself and then we were highly amused at the end of the conversation we heard. After an exciting debate Sarah returned to her guests.

"What do you think Felix Faure and three canailles want me to do?" said she.

we none of us ventured a reply, al-though Clairin, who was present, looked as if he might have offered an expla-as if he might have offered an explanation.

"He wants me to accept a Sevres vase," continued Mme. Bernhardt, wrathfully, "Instead of the sum of money stipulated in my contract for last night's performance."

"What did you reply?" I suggested.

"That I had more beautiful vases in my hotel than he could find in the factory and that a bond was a bond; that I meant to have my money. He then replied that Rejane, who took part, had accepted a vase with great pleasure. I said Rejane could do as she pleased, but I would take none of their crockery, It would make a nice story for Rochefort."

In a Manila Police Court.

(Cleveland Plain Dealer.) "Who and what was the deceased?"
"He was a tenderfoot from Frisco, your

And what is your excuse for killing him?
"He was the sixteenth blasted idlot, your honor, who worked me with the old gag about the insurgents playing a Lugon game."
Discharged."

The colored race subtraces one-ferth of the lumin of the lumin tamily, or about 150,000,000 individuals:

DESPICABLE FELLOW.

halder-Miss Brown, why don't you change your name lies Brown-Oh, Mr. Chalder! This is so sudden. Miss Brown-Oh, Mr. Chalder-To Browne?

YOUNG UTAH'S CASE AGAINST THE TRIBUNE

Sait Lake City, April 7, 1829. Sait Lake City, April 7, 1894.

Since weeks ago there appeared in The Herald a protest against the unjournalistic methods and policy of the Sait Lake Tribune in maliciously standering the majority of the people of Utah, but more particularly protesting against the Tribune's assumption of authority as the organ of Young Utah. It does not matter to us at this writing what the motives were that inspired these outrageous attacks upon this community; it is sufficient for our purpose to call the attention of the public to a few of the facts in the controversy between the Tribune and Young Utah.

troversy bet Young Utah.

Agoncillo is reported to have said that "the Filipinos will win in the long run." They are pretty hard to catch up with, for a certainty.

John Sherman is about well again, the dispatches say. He ought to include his obituaries among his memoirs.

Alger has found an enthusiastic welforme in Porto Rico. He should remain there. No one else appreciates him.

"We have not reached the end yet," triumphantly exclaims Aguinaldo. Then they must be running in a circle.

It oversy between the Tribune and Young Utah. Two hundred young men (afterwards endowed by many others) solemniy and emphatically protested against the Tribune's assumption that it had the Tribune's assumption t

In all these letters we have refrained from the use of billingsgate and con-ined ourselves to a discussion of the matter in dispute, and now we ask the public to judge whether we were justi-fied in our protest, whether the charges we have made against the Tsibune are true?

Utah may as well give up reaching after that Arizona strip and go in for a slice of China.

Montenegro, next in authority to Aguinaldo as an insurgent leader, is dead. Next.

EBB-TIDE.

(Guy Wotmore Carryl, in Harper's.)
A sodden reach of wide and wind-awept lead.
A sky of shattered steel that palls the sight.
And one long shaft of sun that seems to write.

Yast letters slowly on a slate of sea. The dreary wail of guills that skim the crest of sullen breakers sliding in to land. A world grown empty, full of vague unperst.
And shadow-shapes that stride across the sand.

rene?

• • •

Young Utah has no right and has no right. Strange forms of wreckage creeping from the waves.

Like shosts that steal in silence from their graves

To watch beside the death-best of the front we have the strange of Like ghosts that steal in silence from their graves that steal in silence from their graves that steal in silence from their graves. To watch beside the death-bed of the Tribune can say to make the graves that the possibility of the far horizon's sweep to muste of the cheery sallor-shout Of men who sought the wonders of the deep?

Poor shattered ships: Their gallant cruising o'er, Their cargoes coral-crusted leagues below.

Proof is, unnamed unnumbered, from the slow Recession of the chb along the shore.

The diverges got thirsty, drank the sand and a part of our duty to protest when the gar want of our duty to protest when the gar want of our duty to protest when the gar want of our duty to protest when the gar want of our duty to protest when the gar want of our duty to protest when the gar want of his morial continuation to lay them in the name of conscience, let us alone. We arise the We advise that in sheathing our swords we have in that in sheathing our swords we have in the thing for to make Lord Ham angel in the sky.

He seratched Ham first, Ham sera she would suggest silence on its part, no matter how humiliating it may feel.

The diverge got thirsty, drank the sand and went off in a wink.

Now Laertes had tipped his foll with levels and give he learned by the hard the protect want of the same of conscience, let us alone. We arise persistently misrepresented and traduced. If the Tribune to the manner of the same traduced. If the Tribune to the manner of the same traduced. If the Tribune to the manner of the same traduced it that in sheathing our swords we have in that it is that in sheathing our swords we have in that it is that in sheathing our swords we have in that it is that in sheathing our swords we have in that it is that in sheathing our swords we have in that it is that in sheathing our swords we have in that it is that in sheathing our swords we have in that it is that in sheathing our swords we have in that it is that in sheathing our swords we have in that it is that in sheathing our swords In closing the discussion, we thank The Herald for their courtesy in giving us the use of its columns in presenting our case to the public. YOUNG UTAH.

Engan's Successor.

(New York World.) General John F. Weston, the unspeak-For me, as well, alone upon the dune.

There sinks a tide that strips the bouched bare.

And leaves but grim, unsightly wreck-age where.

The brokeling skies make mockery of troil.

Unmasking on the naked shore of love Flotsom and Jefsam of a implier day, Dreams wrecked, and all the emptiness thereof: that he rarely shows bad femper. In a small room adjoining his hall street office he had pulleys, dumbbells and Indian clubs. Whenever vis itors or red tape angered him he en itors or red tape angered num he en-tered this room, shut the door, took off his cost and for ten minutes made the pulleys creak or the clubs whistle a tune as they cut the air.

There was in the army no more reck-less daring a subaltern than was Gen-eral Weston in his younger days. In 1888, when a lieuteannt, he went with General Sheridan on an expedition against the Chevennes.

is 1888, when a leutenant, he went with General Sheridan on an expedition against the Cheyennes.

One evening after going into camp a small herd of buffalo was signted. The leutenant had thrown off his saddle and put aside his arms. He caught up his bett in which were revolver and knife and leaped upon his bareback horse. After a race he caught up with a huge bull and emptted his revolver into its side. The bull faced him.

Determined not to be laughed at, he dismounted and drew his knife. Ha walked to one side of the bull and the animal turned. He began to run, but the bull kept his lowered head always toward him. He kept stopping and turning until the sweat poured from him: at list he managed to get behind the bull and landed upon its back.

The buffalo, with a snort of terror, dashed forward in a mad lumbering gallop. The soldier worked his way onto the brute's shoulders, fastecod his flagers in its mane and began to hack away at the throat of the terror-stricken buffalo. It took time, but finally the knife went through hair and hide.

The brute gave a wheezing, roaring couch and fell forward, blungles his ally the knile went through hair and hide.

The brute gave a wheezing, roaring cough and fell forward, plunging his mose into the earth, throwing the rider fifteen feet in front.

In his early youth Weston was for a short time an iron moulder in Louis ville, Ky. Recently he visited the city His fastionable friends wished to make much of him, but their visitor slipped away and for one day could not be found. He passed that day with an old Irishman, a moulder, now retired.

AFTER THE MATINEE.

Young Hamlet was a gallant prince

A lady whiter than the dawn. And weaker than straight water. Now Hamlet's mother, the frail queen, Hac wed her husband's brother, Before her husband was quite cold, And this was Hamlet's bother.

He loved the fair Ophelia,

He worried o'er it all the day, And all the night, and then And all the night, and then Went back to where he first began And worried up again.

One day his friend Horatio Said, 'fram, brace up your croquet pegs And hear what I've to say:

Your father walks about the yard And poles his sword too near our ribs, The old man must be alling?" "Now, by my bunion," quoth Lord Hum,
"I'll learn what this may be."
He swallowed some St. Jacobs Oil
And went forth mightily.

Anon, he saw his father's ghost Greep through the picket fence But erstwhile his stupendous fear Whilem went fleeting hence. Then learned he while the good.
The uncle did appear ghost slept.
And poured some mutter tailow dip.
Into the good gloot's ar;

And took the good ghost's wife and (know). (Poor Ham groaned at the story) And sent the good ghost down alone Unshitted to Pargatory.

Then Hamlet swore upon his sword He wouldn't wash his neck.' Until he took the King on board And washed him off the deck. But Hamlet wished to trap the King So he pretended madness. The king half thought it was a fake, The queen was grieved to sadness.

And then Ophella was forced To give his presents back. To give his presents back, Ah, when she failed him, poor old Ham Was truly on the rack.

The world was dreary to him then He didn't care a thing For anything in all the world, Except to catch the king.

And so he wrote a murder scene And played it on the spot. The king it in the trying pan And bounced our roaring bot. And then the queen called Hamlet in To may a thing or two, But in the tury of the scens He ran Poionius through.

And then Ophelia west mad And feil into a diich,

And then the coward king was seared When you began to take on; He thought he'd sacrifice his Ham. And thereby save his bucon.

He scratched Ham first, Ham scratched him back, Remarking, "Don't get gay." Lastics saw that he was doomed 'And gave the king away.

MORAL.

Now Hamlet was a fine young man Who loved his father truly. But he had spent far too much time Perusing Mr. Doeley.

He thought so much be couldn't act.
The inference is plain;
If you want to keep your body.
You must do without your brain.
She'd Heard the Street Cries. At a dimer table the other evening it was remarked that no one seemed to know the Christian name of the new president of the French rapidite. We need to bear and a guest, of Jules Freix Casimir Perier, Sadi Carnot and Felix Faure, but no one seems to know the Christian name of M. Loubet, "Oh, I know it," said an ingenious young ady, anxious to enlighten the company. The read it several times. It's Consequent (Puck.

"You should try and be a little more rentle, Reginald." and the mother of an obstreperous Seven-old. "The Bible tells us that the mesk shall inherit the earth, you know."

"And what good would the earth do me, even if I should inherit it?" snorted the injured spirit, wrathfully. "You'd either make me put it in the bank, or send it to the heathan or divey it op with eigher Sue, or lay It away and only use it on Sumlays. ROBSON

THE Unity. "But," they expostulated, "you have painted the milkmaid on the wrong side of the cow."

the cow."
"Yes," replied the painter, "quite so!
But kindly observe that I have painted he cow without any loints in her least that of it? Why she can't lick, of ourse." it is now well understood that art, while may be unreal, is not necessarily de-oid of unity.

HARD LINES.

(Life.)
In the crowded car I stand,
Weary and numb and cold;
Jostled and squeezed and jammed,
Not even a strap to hold.

This statement mosts my eye, its mockery well I know, "For space in this car apply To Messra Ad. and Co. Crown Bridge Work a Specialty.

DENTAL PARLORS. 240 S. Main St. Next Door North of Walker House.

for $8.00.

AMUSEMENTS.

Less familiar is "Macbeth" than the er Shakesperean plays given during this engagement, and perhaps the chief reason for this fact is the difficulty of its presentation. Why in the world the people of today should lament the drait of famous actors of the classic school, when, a performance like the one lass night can be witnessed, is hard to tell. The play, gory and horrible, as it is is a aplendid opportunity for the talents of the stars, and particularly for Miss kidder and Mr. Warde's great parts is one of Mr. Warde's great parts of the unmost difficulty, and therefore his success is of the greater riumph. In the scene after the murder of Duncan, his acting was of the intense vivid kind that brings chills and cold shocks. Especially fine also was the scene where he is mainted by Bunquo's glosst, and the final duel with Machulf. Frederic Warde is an actor who has carried the full confidence of his public, for he is never a disappointment. He is conscientious, energul and scholarly always, if he has but three lines to utter. this engagement, and perhaps the chief lines to utier.

As Lady Macheth, Miss Kidder has a

As Lady Macbeth, Miss Kidder has a part in which she shows the depth of her dramatic temperament. Her reading of the lines is superb, and her portrayal of every detail of speech and gesture is full of significance. She is a Lady Macbeth to be remembered. In appearance she was admirably suited to the role. There is no ranting, no straining after effects in Mise Kidder's acting—she is a true artist. Mr. James has less chance than heretofore as Macduff, but handles his scenes with discretion, and gave a performance entirely worthy of his reputation. Harry Langdon was the Duncan, Barry Johnstone the Makloim, and Frank Peters the Banquo. They were good in their respective roles although a little mere force would not have been amiss in the last named. Mr. Norman Hackett is an exceedingly valuable member of the company, and last night piaged several short roles, each one of a distinctly different type, in excellent style. The three witches were aufficiently gratesque and horrithe, and Mr. Vanderhoff's makeup in conceivably frightful. The performance of "Macbeth" has fight was such a one as will linger long in the minds of those who saw it, and will furnish the busis for many a comparison in future.

A crowded house winessed "The School for Scandal" in the afternoon. This has been a wonderful engagement, with the houses filled, up to the eighth performance.

Tonight occurs the Frederic Warde lecture at the synagogue, and it will be performance.

Tonight occurs the Frederic Warde leature at the synagogue, and it will be very largely attended, as great interest has been manifested in the event.

has been munifested in the event.

An entertainment is to be given at the Salt Lake theatre by the Ladies' Auxiliary of the Y. M. C. A. on Wednesday, April 28. The ladies have planned a unique programme. The first scene will represent street influence upon young men and boys, followed by an illustration of how that influence is counteracted by the Young Men's Christian association. Another scene will show Indian life, smoking the pipe of peace, the antiquity of the red race in America and their priesthood—the Indian dance and the government forcing them to vacuit cheir lands. One pretty scene will represent America, her army them to vaccile their lands. One preity seeme will represent America, her army and many, her different geogrations, her new possessions and the jubilee of the states interspersed with song drills and soles by some of the most popular singers of the city. One of Salt Lake's society helles will represent the Goddess of Liberty in all her stately splender, and one of the popular railroad officials will take the port of Uncle Sam. The last act will be in tableaux, and will show the freeing of Cuba as viewed by the different nations. The young ladies for this part are selected from the auxiliary and their immediate friends.

Dr. John P. D. John, former president of De Pauv university, and an orator

Dr. John P. D. John, former president of De Panw university, and an orator of note, will give two lectures at the First Methodist church this week. On Wordneeday evening his subject is "The Worth of Man". Thursday, "Did Man Make God or Did God Make Man?" Dr. John has had great audiences in most of the cities of this country, and has been praised by the press wherever he has spoken.

STOCKS AND INVESTMENTS.

STOCKES and Commercial Stocks and other High Grado Investment Securities bought and Stocks hought and Stocks Dividend-paying stocks bought and sold, Investment of states and capitalism will receive the best of attention.

Tel 127. If Main Street,

NEW GRAND THEATRE.

M. E. MULVEY, Mgr. Three Nights, Commencing

MONDAY, APRIL 10, AMERICA'S FOREMOST COMEDIAN,

BOBBY CAYLOR With His Merry Associates in the Hilar-

Jour Farce:

McSORLEY'S TWINS PRICES ALWAYS THE SAME.

SALT LAKE THEATRE. GEORGE D. PYPER Manager. Matinees, 2:15. Evenings, 8:15.

TUESDAY. APRIL 12th 12th 13th "STUART

This Perfect Cast Assisting: Mrs. Simert Robson Frank C. Bangs Harold Russell Is Awfully Good in Gertrude Perry

is Everywhere say

Sheridan Block Ida Van Cortland Mabel Strickland MEDDLER and

He has never been seen to better advant-age. On Thursday night Mr. Robson will present his intest comedy-drama. TWO ROGUES AND A ROMANCE.

(By Thomas Burt Sayre.) Carringes at 19:30 -NEXT ATTRACTION-Friday and Saturday, April 14-15, PRIMISOSE & DOCKSTADER'S Ministrels.

JOHN P. D. JOHN, D. D., LL. D., Ex-President De Pauw University, will

TWO GREAT LECTURES, At First M. E. Church, April 12th and 13th.

Thursday "Did Man Make God or Did lod Make Man?" Westnesday-"The Worth of a Man."

Course tickets at Druchl & Franken's, Smith Drug Co., A. R. Derge & Co.